Investment Perspectives

Market

Stocks rebounded as inflation data improved, central banks paused rate hikes, and US-China relations appeared less frosty after Presidents Joe Biden and Xi Jinping met. All sectors and regions rose. A rotation to growth stocks boosted Information Technology, while the rise of Industrials shares may be a sign of improving consumer and business sentiment. Falling oil prices weighed on the Energy sector. By region, stocks fared well across all major markets with the notable exception of China, which lagged again this month despite an improvement in retail sales and industrial production data.

Portfolio

Shares of Dutch payment processing firm Adyen recovered sharply. Last quarter, shares fell after the company reported margin pressure from recent staffing expansions and lower revenue growth due to competitive pricing pressures in the US ecommerce market. At its November 8 investor day, the company reiterated its long-term strategy and competitive advantage and wowed investors with its forward-looking guidance. Management projected that, through 2026, Adyen would see annual revenue growth in the low-to-high 20% range and beginning in 2024 a gradual expansion of EBITDA margins, which are anticipated to exceed 50% by 2026. Although the guidance is below the targets set by management last year, it is well above the level to which consensus estimates had fallen and consistent with our belief that Adyen's technological edge and superior digital payments platform will enable the company to take share from competitors in a fast-growing industry.

- Strong quarterly results at Netflix and Pinterest helped power Communication Services stock selection.
- In the Consumer Staples sector, L'Oréal shares rose after the company put on an impressive display of its beauty technologies at its capital markets day.
- By region, we outperformed most in Europe inside the eurozone. Shares of Adyen, Schneider Electric, and SAP all rose sharply after reporting strong results.
- US stock selection hurt as Vertex Pharmaceutical's shares dipped after a strong YTD rise, and the stock price of energy services business SLB slipped with the decline in oil prices.

- Exposure to SVB Financial Group and First Republic Bank was the largest detractor. SVB was placed into receivership in mid-March following accelerated withdrawals. We sold First Republic, but not before its shares fell drastically in the wake of SVB's collapse.
- Industrials stock selection also hurt relative performance. While John Deere continues to report strong results underpinned by good pricing and solid execution, evidence that the agricultural cycle had peaked weighed on its shares, more than offsetting strong gains by other holdings in the sector.
- The surge in spending on applications related to artificial intelligence has benefited several of our holdings, including Meta Platforms, Alphabet, Salesforce, and Synopsys.
